—Ice cream at C. W. Hill's.

—Is that subscription paid yet?

—Allan's Fly Brick at J. E. McGeivin's Drug Store.

—The FREE PRESS is only $1 in advance; $1.50 credit.

Lundy's Potato Bug Destroyer at Morrow's Drug Store.

—Vendor says we will have cooler weather after the 15th of July. Hope so.

—Quite a number of swimmers were "nearly drowned" this week in Nicklin's pond.

—The purest Paris Green in the market at G. E. Morrow's Drug Store.

—Up—Thermometers and Umbrellas. Wait till the 15th and they will come down.

—Mr. H. Hunt, station agent here, is recovering from his recent attack of bilious fever.

—Holidays. That accounts for many school teachers doing nothing around here just now.

—Mr. Wm. Smyth, has gone to Collingwood to attend Mr. Tait's School during the summer holidays.

—Now is the time to wash with J. E. McGeivin's five cent Toilet Soap.

—Mr. Wm. Smyth, of Erin, last week took seven and a half tons of hay off two acres of land. Now:

—Breakwell's Canadian Insect Exterminator will kill Bugs, Flies, &c. for you at Morrow's Drug Store.

—Ice cream at C. W. Hill's.

—The Rev. Mr. Ware, of New York, occupied the pulpit in the Methodist Church here on Sunday evening.

—$10.00 reward for any ease of worms in the human system where J. E. McGeivin's W. W. Powers will not offer a cure for them.

—Mr. Edward Moore, of this village, has sold his single and stable factory at Speyside, to Mr. Henry Hayes.

—Twelve births, four marriages, and six deaths were registered in this municipality during the six months ending June.

—The Newgate Gazette has enlarged. Paper outside. Good local paper. We wish Messrs. Jeffrey & Crauford success.

—Mr. F. H. Stoney, went to Toronto, Tuesday, to attend the Therapeutic Institute for a week or two, for the benefit of his health.

—Mr. John P. Secord has been appointed District Deputy Gran-Chancellor, for Acton District, by the Grand Lodge, Knights of Pythias.

—Ice cream at C. W. Hill's.

—The Oakville Express, under the new management, is to hand. Looks a little better than before. Patent editor, John C. Geatley, is editor.

—Mr. Angus McDonald, of this village, an old pensioner, 101 years old, was at the Royal Hotel, Guelph, Saturday, receiving his periodical wealth.

—W. Heuston will sell by auction the household furniture of Mr. John Taylor, Rockwood, on Tuesday, 13th of July. For particulars see him.

—The band was serenading again Monday evening. Some of the places where they called they received a sum of money. Guess the boys did it good paying business.

—THE FLY BRICK A FRAUD.—The best way to catch flies is to get some of Morrow's Fly Paper—only five cents a sheet.

—A game of base ball was played on Saturday, 29th of June, between the Town Line and Third Line of Erin clubs. The Town Line boys beat their opponents by a score of 57 to 8.

—TUBS.—A quantity of Cedar Wash Tubs for the use of public houses in Acton. These tubs may be exposed to the sun and weather without being damaged thereby.

—Miss Brewster, milliner at Jas. Symon's, and Miss Anoley, milliner at Christie, Henderson & Co.'s, left town last week, the season for millinery being over for the present. The former went to her home at Waterdown, and the latter is in Georgetown.

—Keep cool; C. W. Hill's Ice Cream is highly recommended for excitable people.

—An error occurred in the column which appeared in the FREE PRESS of the 27th ult., signed by a "Protestant Visitor." Instead of Miss Lampe presiding at the organ, at the solemn mass at the Catholic Church, it should have read Miss Smith.

—John P. Secord has a crockery store in town. It is about twelve inches long and is three years old. People in the village needn't be afraid of it growing large and making mince meat of them; as it will take 150 years for it to become full-sized. Mr. Secord got it in Toronto.

J. E. McGeivin, druggist, Acton

—Mr. S. W. Galbraith, who has been editor of the Free Press for the past eight months, leaves to-night for Montreal, where he has accepted a situation as reporter on the Evening Post. Mr. T. A. —We regret to learn that on Friday last a serious accident occurred to Mr. Henry Dunbar, at a racing, at Mr. Colin McKinnon's, on the line north of Ossining. Mr. Dunbar, with others, was helping in the raising of a bar at Mr. McKinnon's. In setting some of the beats he and Mr. H. Jessup were together. In handling these beats they found that they were loose, and while fixing them were precipitated some eighteen or twenty feet to the ground. Mr. Dunbar had some of the bone in his arm broken, and was otherwise injured. He was taken home on a stretcher, but at present we are unable to state what injury he received, though it is believed that they are of a serious character.

—Remember our Orderly Cloth Department, and we are still keep busy, which is proof positive of the desirability of our Goods, of the excellency of price and of the excellency of our cutting and fitting. We want our readers to peruse the advertisements carefully. It will be found in all cases that those advertising most logically. They are not content to stand by the wayside and spend all their time, which should be devoted to buying and selling, in merely making known to passers-by what they have to sell, but, instead of using their lungs they make use of the inexhaustible lungs of the fourth estate. For in this stage of things without advertising, is like walking through a pair of green gogges; you may know what you are doing, but nobody else does. Advertising is the sure road to success. It is an art possessed by few, and those few are the merchant princes of the day. Our advertising columns will be found to be not the least interesting portion of our journal, to those who want to save money.

—About two o'clock Monday afternoon an explosion of benzine occurred in the agitators of the London Oil Refinery Company's works in East London, and in a few moments the place was in flames. So quickly did the fire spread that before the fire engines arrived on the scene the two large agitators, containing about seven hundred barrels, were past all saving. The burning oil burst through the fence on to the street, running southward along the tool and pipe shop, which were also destroyed. The fire raged for about two hours, but by the strenuous exertions of the fire brigade and the men employed by the Company, it was confined to the agitators and tool shop. A large tank containing 1,000 barrels was several times in imminent danger, but escaped. The loss, as far as known amounts to about $12,000. It is understood that the Company have a small insurance.
